Wage Analysis

Wage Adjustment Factors

Benchmark wages are calculated by FTE weighting the survey reported average wages for each job type. This value can then be adjusted by an additional inflation factor and includes supplemental pay.

Cost Trending: BLS Producer Price Index (PPI)

The Bureau of Labor Statistics Producer Price Indices (PPI) for Medicaid populations including residential and developmental disability homes, home health care services and nursing care facilities are suitable for estimating annual inflationary increases in provider costs.

Peer State Comparisons

Acuity Adjustment

Assisted Living, Community Living Homes and Structured Family Caregiving

- At least 124 functional assessment tools currently in use across the country for the full LTSS array of populations
- There are roughly 25 states that have adopted the InterRAI-HC assessment tool in some capacity. InterRAI is considered the general “gold standard” within this space since it is the dominant tool across states.
- However, there is flexibility around how states are utilizing this tool and it is not always leveraged to adjust reimbursement.
- An assessment tool that captures the activities of daily living, cognition, behavioral challenges, medical issues, living arrangement and informal supports is critical.
- Important to have methodology that is explainable and transparent between tiers of reimbursement
- Currently, Guidehouse is in the process of fact finding and evaluating peer states to understand how and if acuity adjusters are applied.

Peer States

Guidehouse collaborated with the DHS to determine states that have commonalities with South Dakota to analyze services and their corresponding rates.

Key Themes

When assessing the service delivery systems in peer states, there are a few preliminary themes of note:

- Peer states largely utilize 1-3 tier(s) of rates for assisted living except for Nebraska (4 tiers) who have a different structure for rural and urban rates.
- Adult Day service tier(s)/level(s) structure across most peer states have a standard adult day service rate except for some states who have separate social and health model rates and specialized rates for more intensive services
- The structure of community living home programs varies greatly from state to state, with some managing the homes directly, others combining community living home services with similar programs in larger facilities, and some not having a fully developed comparable program.
- Current research is still ongoing for Guidehouse to better understand individual state dynamics as it relates to structured family caregivers. Some states indicate that family caregivers need to be specifically certified.
- Primarily peer state meal rates are structured as a single statewide rate per meal, Wyoming however has two separate statewide rates for hot and frozen meals
